Income (including other scholarships) is deemed acceptable if the monthly sum of all income during the funding period does not exceed the amount shown in the column "Maximum gross income per month". The additions and lump sums mentioned under B) and C) are not taken into account.

B) If the scholarship holder is married or in a registered partnership under the German Civil Partnership Act (Lebenspartnerschaftsgesetz - LPartG), a family allowance of €150 per month may be paid in addition to the basic scholarship. This only applies if the spouse's gross income or a scholarship from the spouse or partner does not demonstrably exceed €6,000 per year and they live in the same household. If the spouse or partner of the scholarship holder receives a scholarship with a family allowance, this allowance is only granted once.

C) In addition to the basic scholarship under A) or the family allowance under B), scholarship holders can receive a monthly childcare allowance for a child living in the household who has not yet reached the age of 18.

This allowance amounts to €150 for the first child and €85 for each additional child. This does not apply if the other parent receives childcare allowance. The persons named in Section 32 of the Income Tax Act are deemed to be children, provided they live in the scholarship holder’s household.

In justified exceptional cases (e.g. single parents), it is at the discretion of the sponsor to increase the amount for the first child to a maximum of €400 per month and a maximum of €200 for each additional child, subject to providing appropriate evidence of the costs.

D) The income limits under A) do not apply to the lump sum child allowance of €100 per month which may be granted from the funds of the Foundation for the Promotion of Gifted Students and Young Academics in Rhineland-Palatinate to pregnant female students and single parents in economic distress.
